

OMG!!!! Guess wat hapend wen our troops fought Gen. Howe's troop? We totally lost! They out #ed us in men and in suplies, but we still fought thm bravly. In our 1st battle we had 2 retreat, we ran 2 the manhattan rivr + sailed aX it 2 xcape the british that wer chasing us. It was SO scary, people wer falling + it was such a long distance my legs felt like thy would fall off!!!! Once we got on the boats safly, we saild 2 long Iland, but the Hessians landed there rite behind us. Wen we found out we wer out #ed again we started 2 cry. We fought with the rest of our strength but apparently tht wasn't enough. We retreated again, but this time we took every single boat frm the shore + sailed off. It was wicked scary wen we wer running I kept on hearing guns being fired + thinking "Im next". Thankfully I made it. (: ok, well I G2G, we are starting to march to our "real" campsite, but if u ask me it is SO much colder ther thn it is here and we will probably die of frost bite...o well, TTYL

Oh my goodness, guess what happened when our troops fought General Howe's troop? We totally lost! They out numbered us in m en and in supplies, but we still fought them bravely. In our first battle we had to retreat, we ran to the Manhattan River and sailed across it to escape the British that were chasing us. It was so scary, people were falling and it was such a long distance, my legs felt like they would fall off! Once we got on the boats safely, we sailed to long island, but the Hessians landed there right behind us. When we found out we were out numbered again we started to cry. We fought with the rest of our strength, but apparently that wasn't enough. We retreated, again, but this time we took every single boat from the shore and sailed off. It was wicked scary when we were running; I kept on hearing guns being fired and thinking, "I'm next". Thankfully I made it. Okay, well I got to go, we are starting to march to our real campsite, but if you ask me it is so much colder there then it is here and we will probably die of frostbite, Oh well, Talk To You Later.
